

THE MAGAZINE OF 3-DIMENSIONAL IMAGING, PAST & PRESENT

September/
October
1999
Volume 26,
Number 4

A Publication of NATIONAL STEREOSCOPIC
ASSOCIATION, INC.

STEREO WORLD

THE "GENERAL" • TRU-VUES OF THE '30s • 3DIQ

NSA Y2K AZ!

Logo design: Boris Starosta

The National Stereoscopic Association year 2000 convention will be held in Mesa, Arizona, July 6-10th at the Sheraton Mesa Hotel. Room rates are a reasonable $68 per night for a single or double up to a suite rate of $128 per night. Make your reservations by calling the hotel before June 12, 2000 at 1-800-456-6372. The hotel has 273 rooms and we expect to fill all of them so make your reservations early to be assured of getting a room at the convention hotel.

We have many activities planned for 2000. There will be more workshops, exciting tours of Northern and Southern Arizona, a large trade fair, and a full day of stereo theater. So many events are planned that the convention will begin Thursday morning, July 6th!

We will hold a beginner stereo workshop for those who understand the basics but want to learn the details. We are working on an electronic/computer oriented workshop for stereo in the 21st century. Some of the workshops will be held in a theater-style room capable of holding 100 people with presentations on a stage.

The northern Arizona tour will take you to prehistoric Indian cliff dwellings, beautiful red rock formations near Sedona, and a trip to the old copper mining ghost town of Jerome in the central Arizona mountains. The southern Arizona tour will stop at the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum (world renowned for Sonoran desert

(Continued on page 2)

The Sheraton Mesa Hotel, headquarters for the NSA Y2K Convention. Stereo by Tom Dory.

Arizona's Superstition Mountains seen from Goldfield, an old mining town. Stereo by Tom Dory.

